National Trust Tours

Dear National Trust Traveler,

Where can you see underwater ancient cities, Neolithic settlements, early Christian ruins, Lycian cliffside tombs, exquisite Roman villas, Crusader castles, and extraordinary Byzantine churches—all in one spectacular region? In April 2025, you're invited to join the National Trust on a thrilling Eastern Mediterranean voyage. Aboard the new Emerald Azzurra, sail strikingly blue waters from Cyprus to the Greek island of Rhodes and Turkey's Turquoise Coast. While these beautiful lands may be less traveled today, they were early crossroads of civilizations. Expert guides will take you behind the scenes of the rarely explored wonders these ancient cultures created.

The island nation of Cyprus is a perfect start to your journey. Explore the world's last divided city, ancient Nicosia, a microcosm of Cyprus's multilayered past. In ancient Greek settlements like Kourion and Kition, admire Phoenician temples, immense Roman mosaic floors, and medieval churches. In the pine-covered Troodos Mountains, behold world-renowned Byzantine frescoes at the UNESCO-listed Church of St. Nicholas of the Roof. In Aphrodite's mythical birthplace, Paphos, take inside looks at well-preserved mosaics in Roman villas and trace the spread of early Christianity to the church St. Paul founded here.

Sail to the Turquoise Coast for an unforgettable experience. Board glass-bottom boats to view the submerged ruins of an ancient Lycian-Byzantine city beneath crystal-clear waters. Expert guides will also lead you through the UNESCO-listed Lycian ruins of Xanthos, their cliffside capital city with distinctive rock-cut tombs. Step into ancient hubs of trade and culture like Perge, wandering through well-preserved Roman baths, marketplaces, and fortifications. In Aspendos, marvel at the advanced acoustics of a second-century A.D., 15,000-seat Roman theater.

On the Greek island of Rhodes, once home to the iconic Colossus, you'll be whisked back to the days of the Knights of St. John in one of Europe's most wonderfully well-preserved medieval cities. Across the sea in Bodrum, Turkey, thread your way through the ruins of the Mausoleum of Halicarnassus, an ancient wonder. On a guided tour of Bodrum Castle, built by the Knights of St. John, explore an excellent archaeological museum of precious ancient shipwreck treasures, from bronze statues to glassware raised from the depths of the Aegean.

Let the insights of your world-class lecturers, including Emmy Award-winning filmmaker Christopher Noey, unlock new worlds for your appreciation. We hope you can set sail with us to less-traveled corners of the Mediterranean in April 2025.

Before setting sail on Emerald Azzurra today, you may choose between three enriching tour options highlighting Cyprus's Byzantine, Venetian, and Ottoman history. Your first option is an exciting tour of ancient Nicosia, "the world's last divided capital," with a UN-monitored buffer zone between the Greek Cypriot-controlled south and the self-proclaimed Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus in the north.

This morning, explore the Cyprus Museum's collection of ancient Cypriot and Byzantine art. After lunch take a guided look at 18th-century wall paintings in the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist. Then visit the 16th-century Büyük Khan, Cyprus's largest caravanserai (roadside inn), and the elaborately beautiful Selimiye Mosque, which has 13th-century roots as a Catholic cathedral.

On a guided walking tour of the UNESCO-recognized Archaeological Park of Nea Paphos, visit exquisite ancient Roman villas built from the second through the fifth centuries A.D. Marvel at their beautifully well-preserved mosaic floors depicting mythological and hunting scenes. View the medieval ruins of the Castle of Forty Columns, a seventh-century fortress named for its many granite columns.

Transfer to the Church of Chrysopolitissa, originally founded by the apostles Paul and Barnabas in 46 A.D. See the ruins of its fourth-century basilica and medieval Ottoman baths. View the modest yet famous St. Paul's Pillar, said to mark the spot where the apostle Paul was whipped during his first missionary journey to Cyprus.

Enjoy lunch at leisure in the town of Paphos or opt for lunch aboard the ship. In the afternoon, visit the Tombs of the Kings, followed by a visit to the Monastery of St. Neophytos. Carved out of the mountains, it houses a noteworthy ecclesiastical museum containing icons dating from the 16th century. Return to the ship and set sail for Turkey. B,L,D

SUNDAY, APRIL 13: ANTALYA, TURKEY / PERGE / ASPENDOS

Attend a morning lecture as the ship sails to Antalya, Turkey's largest Mediterranean city, renowned for its Greek, Roman, and Byzantine landmarks against a backdrop of the Taurus Mountains. First head south along the coast to the ancient trade center of Perge, once claimed by Lycians, Greeks, and Romans. Perge's archaeological site features well-preserved bath complexes, an agora, basilicas, a theater, a stadium, and impressive fortifications.

Nearby is the Antalya Archaeological Museum, notable for its collection of sculptures unearthed from Perge. In Aspendos, stop at the renowned Roman amphitheater built during Marcus Aurelius's reign, known for its acoustics. Return to Antalya and Emerald Azzurra, gathering for the captain's welcome reception and dinner this evening. B,L,R,D

Old Town, Kas, Turkey

MONDAY, APRIL 14: KAS / KEKOVA BAY / SIMENA

Anchor off Turkey's fabled Turquoise Coast, named for the beautiful blue color of the waters, and board a tender into Kas, an ancient Lycian trading port. Explore the remarkably restored, 4,000-seat limestone Hellenistic Theater, a rare relic of the ancient Lycian city, constructed in the first century B.C. Also, behold a well-preserved Lycian tomb located in Kas's historical center.

After lunch at leisure ashore or aboard the ship, transfer to Kekova Bay. Upon arrival, step into glass-bottom boats and cruise for a mesmerizing perspective on the ancient submerged city of Simena, a once-thriving Lycian and Byzantine port. In the clear turquoise waters below, peer into the depths and observe foundations of buildings, staircases, and broken columns that hint at the city's former grandeur. In the early evening, sail to Fethiye. B,L,D

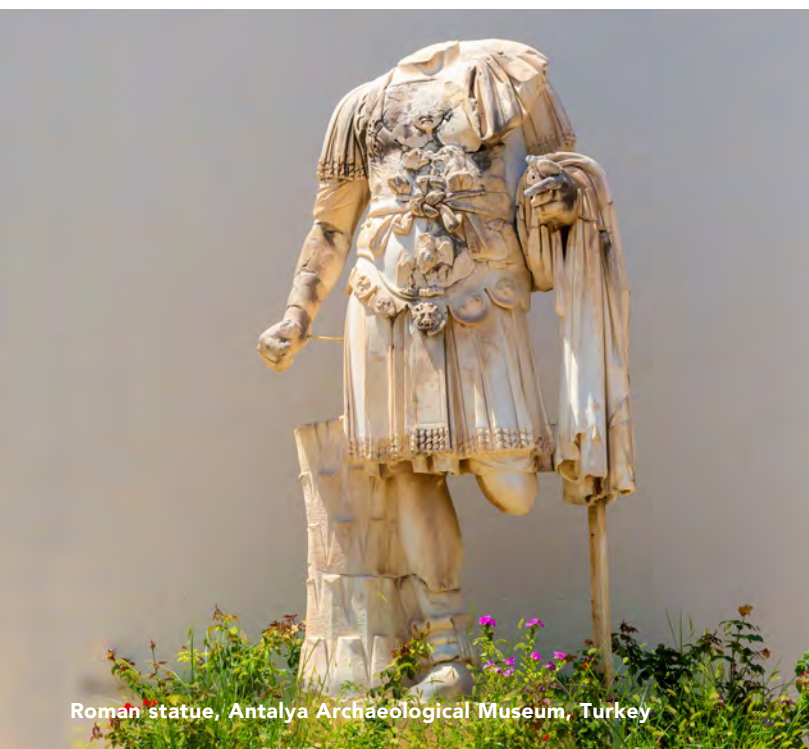

TUESDAY, APRIL 15: FETHIYE / XANTHOS / LETOON / AFTERNOON AT SEA

The ancient Lycians, initially nomads, settled in mountainous southwestern Turkey in the eighth century B.C. and became known for their cliffside rock-cut tombs. Arrive in Fethiye and transfer to the UNESCO-listed ancient Lycian capital of Xanthos, set on a cliff overlooking the Xanthos River.

Join an expert guide to explore Xanthos's acropolis, Byzantine basilica, theater, and rock-cut tombs, remnants of its cosmopolitan past as a cultural, commercial, and political hub for the Lycians, Greeks, Persians, and Romans. While here, discover the Nereid Monument, an ornately crafted tomb built in the fourth century B.C. An early example of Greek-style temple-tombs, the monument was named after sea nymphs from Greek mythology.

Next, continue to nearby Letoon, the ancient Lycian sanctuary dedicated to the goddess Leto and her twin children, Artemis and Apollo. See Letoon's temples and colonnaded galleries that shed light on the religious practices and mythological beliefs of the Lycians.

Return to the ship and either choose to have lunch on board or enjoy lunch at the many seafood restaurants along the port. Set sail for Rhodes in the afternoon. B,L,D
