DECO DETROIT:

Preservation and Perseverance in the Motor City

DECO DETROIT

2025 marks the centennial of the International Exhibition of Modern Decorative and Industrial Arts in Paris, an exposition which sparked the global launch of what became commonly known the Art Deco style. The period following World War I and leading up to World War II became synonymous with Art Deco and its influence was truly pervasive, extending from the arts and architecture to jewelry, textiles, and even automotive design.

Detroit has undergone a remarkable renaissance and rebirth. Once the center of the American automotive economy, it is no secret that Detroit fell upon hard times in the late 20th century. Fueled by the passion of its residents and the commitment of its community leaders, today it is truly a city transformed.

In 2015, Detroit was named a UNESCO "City of Design", the first and only U.S. city to receive that designation. Detroit's rise to industrial prominence coincided with the height of Art Deco's popularity and its influence remains a hallmark of the city's downtown ambience.

Accommodations at the ATHENEUM SUITE HOTEL

Stay four nights at the Atheneum Suite Hotel, a member of the National Trust's Historic Hotels of America program. Originally built in 1879 as a seed company warehouse, it was recently named to HHA's 2024 Best of Adaptive Reuse List. The Atheneum is ideally located in downtown Detroit's Greektown neighborhood, packed with culture and character.

TUESDAY, MAY 6

Welcome to Detroit

Upon arrival in Detroit, transfer independently to the Atheneum Suite Hotel, a member of the National Trust's Historic Hotels of America program. In the late afternoon, gather for a guided walking tour of some of downtown Detroit's Art Deco gems from the city's development in the early 20th century with our local expert. Enter the magnificent Guardian Building, one of the nation's most extravagant Art Deco skyscrapers, for a glimpse of its stunning lobby adorned in imported marble. This evening, celebrate our travels together in the Motor City with cocktails and dinner with fellow travelers. (D)

WEDNESDAY, MAY 7

Art, Art Deco, and the Detroit Music Scene

Begin today at the Detroit Institute of Arts, housed since 1927 in a stately Beaux-Arts building, for a private, docent-led tour of the collection highlights including the massive Detroit Industry fresco cycle by Mexican artist Diego Rivera. Continue to Albert Kahn's Fisher Building, known as "Detroit's Largest Art Object", to see the building's three-story arcade adorned with mosaics, marble, brass, and frescoes. In the Corktown neighborhood, visit the recently restored Michigan Central Station and see how the grand buildings of Detroit are being reimagined for the 21st century. Late this afternoon, have a private guided tour of the Motown Museum, housed since 1985 in Berry Gordy's home and former record studio. This evening, be welcomed by members of Detroit's Art Deco Society for a cocktail reception at Cliff Bell's, a restored Art Deco jazz club that continues to offer live jazz performances. Following the reception, have a chance to enjoy dinner and live jazz with fellow travelers, or return to the hotel for a night at leisure. (B,L,Rec)

THURSDAY, MAY 8

Albert Kahn and Belle Isle

This morning, drive north of the city to the shores of Lake St. Clair to visit the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, designed by Albert Kahn in 1926. Tour the historic estate's magnificent interiors and manicured gardens and learn about the multiple large scale restoration projects that have been undertaken over the years. Following lunch together at the estate, return to Detroit for a tour of Pewabic pottery and tile manufactory, founded in 1903 and still in operation. Pewabic was a leader in the Arts and Crafts movement and its striking iridescent tiles adorned buildings throughout

Detroit and Southeastern Michigan. Next, cross the Detroit River to Belle Isle Park for an up-close view of the Livingstone Memorial Lighthouse, Albert Kahn's iconic marble structure, as well as the Anna Scripps Whitcomb Conservatory, and Belle Isle Aquarium. (B,L)

FRIDAY, MAY 9

Cranbrook

Celebrated as the "cradle of mid-century modernism in America," Cranbrook's world-renowned campus is a treasure trove of history, architecture, craftsmanship, and design. Spend a full day touring Cranbrook's expansive campus and see masterworks by architects such as Albert Kahn, Rafael Moneo, Billie Tsien, and Tod Williams, as well as Frank Lloyd Wright's Smith House and the Art Deco home and studio of Finnish American designer Eliel Saarinen. Enjoy a private lunch in one of Cranbrook's private event spaces, and have a chance to learn from Cranbrook's curators about its historic role in the arts and its continued importance. Return to Detroit via Woodward Avenue, stopping en route at the National Shrine of the Little Flower Basilica, a lavish Art Deco church completed in 1936 with the proceeds from the radio ministry of Father Charles Coughlin.

This evening, toast the group's travels together in Detroit at a festive dinner at one of Detroit's top restaurants. (B,L,D)

SATURDAY, MAY 10

Departures via Henry Ford's Estate

Check out of the hotel and take a group transfer to the Detroit airport, stopping en route to see the grounds of Clara and Henry Ford's estate, Fair Lane, where the 31,000 square foot, 56-room house is currently being restored by a team of artisans, conservators, historians, and craftspeople. Continue to the airport for independent return flights home. (B)
